Loss of Cutter in Bristol Channel Announced in Coast Guard Report.

ONLY 2 BODIES RECOVERED

Vessel Sent to Bottom Soon After Leaving Convoy of Merchant Steamers.

The United States Coast Guard cutter Tampa was sunk by a German submarine September 26, 1918, two weeks before the armistice was signed, in Bristol Channel, England, with the loss of her entire complement of 112 officers and men, it was revealed today in the annual report of the coast guard.

The Tampa had accompanied a fleet of merchant vessels from Gibraltar into Bristol Channel. She had left the convoy, and was proceeding toward Milford Haven when sunk. Only the bodies of two members of the crew and some small scraps of wreckage were found.

Drastic Fuel Regulations Becoming Effective—Kansas Volunteers As Miners.

The volunteers are in no sense strikers, but "men ready to serve the state," said the State is being brought to the pass of using force to protect the people whose sufferings will be unappeasable unless relief is afforded.

In Missouri, schools, theaters, and places of amusement will be closed under an order issued by the Administrator effective next Sunday. The State is in a cold wave with sleet and snow storms general throughout the State.

Governor Gardner, of Missouri, is today working on plans for a meeting of the governors of all coal producing States to consider means of getting coal mined. Unless the coal operators and miners reach some agreement Tuesday the governor will call the meeting in St. Louis, Chicago, or Indianapolis.

From Colorado and Wyoming come reports of an ever increasing coal shortage, although to date there has been no actual suffering reported in either State.

Colorado Faces Great Loss.

Colorado faces a serious problem in the transportation of available coal. Snowstorms which began yesterday, and have been general throughout the State are continuing today with the result that rail transportation is being seriously interfered with. Passenger trains are running hours behind schedule, and it is feared service will be further hampered as the weather bureau promises continued snow. Colorado and Wyoming face great loss to cattle herds on the open plains.

In Illinois the coal situation is described as "serious." The shutting down of a majority of the large manufacturing plants in the State and the further curtailment of train service appears inevitable.

Several large industrial plants in Chicago with but a few days coal supply on hand are expected to close down within a week.

DEMAND RECORDS OF JENKINS CASE

Swift Action Forecast If Note To Be Sent Today Fails To Get Results.

ment. Two committees of the House are prepared to take steps to investigate the entire matter, and members of the Senate will urge that the Foreign Relations subcommittee, now investigating the Mexican situation, make an immediate inquiry and report at once to the Senate.

The plea of the Carranza government, that Jenkins has been offered his release under bail, bears little weight here. It is believed that this has been an attempt on the part of the Mexican government to secure substantiation of its course. If Jenkins had accepted bail it is believed here that this would have given immediate force to a claim that, by so doing, Jenkins had recognized the right of the Mexican government to throw him in jail.

The whole situation has caused no unusual comment here. It is being taken calmly, and officials who have steadily believed that the time must come for a complete showdown with Carranza are inclined to believe that this time is now at hand.

The Administration is not anxious for intervention, but it is prepared to resort to it if necessary.

The text of Carranza's refusal to liberate Jenkins was received here yesterday afternoon and rushed at once to the home of Secretary Lansing.

Representations so far made by Mexico have failed to convince this Government that Jenkins is guilty of collusion with bandits. It was learned authoritatively, The State Department believes he is innocent.

The Mexican embassy here has issued several statements tending to throw suspicion on Jenkins' character. One of them alleged he was guilty of conspiracy with bandits in 1914. It was considered significant these statements were given out before the American Government had any intimation of the nature of Carranza's reply.

Breaking Point Near.
The general feeling here today is that the United States and Mexico are very near a rupture, much nearer than at any time in recent history. In past wrangles with Mexico, it is pointed out, the policy of America had the right to settle her problems for herself and in her own way. Now, after years of international differences, all more or less serious, the patience of the United States seems to be at an end, with an accounting to be called for.

The official text of the Mexican reply was given out by the State Department last night. It was learned in no material way from the text as first sent out in the press reports.

ANGELES' SON TO WAGE WAR UPON CARRANZA

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Alberto Angeles, twenty-two-year-old son of Gen. Felipe Angeles, the Mexican revolutionist who was executed by the Carranza regime, hopes to have a share in a movement for the overthrow of Carranza and the establishment of a democracy that will respect its international obligations and its own constitution.

He said that the family finances were now precarious, but he could take up his task. His mother, who is seriously ill, has not yet been told of her husband's death. Young Angeles works as a shipping clerk in an export house, and his sister is studying stenography.

"My father's death will crystallize the cause for which he fought," he said. "I am in such a position that I need not worry over the support of my mother. I will enter the fight for the establishment of a democracy in Mexico that will respect its international obligations and its own constitution."

"We Mexicans do not want American intervention," he continued. "We will fight our own differences. We are a sovereign people and wish to be treated as such. All political differences in Mexico will vanish if intervention is attempted. The Mexican people, no matter how much they may differ among themselves, will fight to wipe out any foreign power, no matter how sincere its motives may be."

WOMEN GIVE HOLIDAY DINNER TO CHAIN GANG

Eighteen negro and five white prisoners of the State of Virginia, members of a chain gang working on the Washington Fairfax highway near Vienna, filed into their rough dining hall yesterday and ate a very sumptuous Thanksgiving dinner by the women of the vicinity.

All the customary Thanksgiving edibles were served, from turkey to biscuits. No one was allowed to speak, except, at a signal from the guard, when the prisoners voiced their thanks in unison.

HELD IN RICHMOND AS TAXI BANDIT

Man Claiming Clarendon as Home Linked to Assault by Auto License Number.

en in Tye River, Va., extending condolences on the recent death of his wife.

Unknown in Clarendon.
No one could be found in Clarendon today who had ever known a Fred Warren there, and it also developed that he had never received mail at the Clarendon postoffice.

Warren was described by the Richmond police as being rather flashily dressed, and had the appearance of a chauffeur. He gave his age as twenty-eight.

Caffes was brought to Providence Hospital in this city this morning by his brother. It was reported at the hospital that the injured man has a chance for recovery.

Sweeney, armed with a "John Doe" warrant, will leave for Richmond this afternoon to bring back the man under arrest in that city.

Assaulted on Lonely Road.
Caffes was assaulted on what is known as Hook road. About fifty yards off the road detectives found the spot where the assault was committed. Several pieces of bloodstained tissue paper, which the police believe was used by the chauffeur's assailant to wipe his hands on after the head slash, and the backman's throat, were found on the spot.

Torn bits of the chauffeur's identification card from Caffes' automobile also were found by the police. Neither the knife nor blackjack could be found, and officials at the reformatory and several of the inmates will conduct a further search this afternoon.

Caffes' assailant, after felling him with blow over the head with a blackjack, tore the injured man's collar from his neck and slashed his throat. The collar was not found.

On hiring Caffes Wednesday night his assailant told him to drive to Occoquan, where he was to attend a wedding. Investigation this morning showed that there was a wedding at Pohick on Wednesday.

Familiar With Road.
Officials at the reformatory pointed out that the road was very seldom frequented, leading the police to believe that Caffes' assailant was familiar with that locality.

The search this morning was conducted by Detective Sweeney, of Police Headquarters; Captain Pettit and Dr. Hornbaker, both of whom are stationed at the reformatory.

The spot where the assault was committed was on the property of the District reformatory.

Found By Chance.
It was only by chance that Caffes was found yesterday after he had lain, with only short periods of consciousness, for more than seventeen hours in the mud and rain in the thicket. He was found yesterday afternoon by Adolph Kienast, of 3921 Fifth street northwest, and Dr. Lewis H. Kraskin, of 731 Twelfth street northwest, who were hunting through the woods near Occoquan. They stumbled over the unconscious form of Caffes and took him to the Occoquan Hospital.

W. VA. PRODUCTION TO REACH 60 PER CENT

Dispatches from West Virginia today indicate that 60 per cent of the normal production of coal in the Kanawha district will be restored in that section by tomorrow, according to the calculations of the Kanawha Coal Operators' Association.

In the New River coal district there were no developments. A Congressional investigation of conditions in the West Virginia mining districts has been demanded by the executive board of District No. 17, United Mine Workers, which claims that it has the support of a number of members of Congress in this demand.

The resolutions assert that the Guyan operators compel the miners "to work under the most inhuman and unjust conditions;" that these miners are denied the right to have their coal weighed; that they are paid "wages greatly below those paid in the union fields," and that "the operators of the Guyan Valley are now, and have for some years past, maintained a private army of thugs and gunmen for the purpose of preventing any attempts of the men to organize into a union."

The commission appointed by the governor to investigate the situation in the Guyan Valley is now in the field, and the statement is made that "a number of beaten and assaulted witnesses have appeared before the said commission and exhibited wounds received at the hands of the armed guards of the operators, and upon returning to their homes, by the adroves of Governor Cornwell, have again been brutally assaulted and driven out of the fields."

The charge is made that "Governor Cornwell is now and has been doing all in his power to prevent an independent inquiry into the conditions within his jurisdiction." The resolutions ask Congress "immediately to take some steps to protect the citizens of this part of West Virginia," and that "a commission with full power to compel the appearance of witnesses be immediately appointed and sent to southern West Virginia and particularly to the Guyan field."
